Dear Veritas Corporation,

This letter is provided to address your request for information regarding STEMCELL products that contain human-derived materials.

Human-derived material used in the manufacture of STEMCELL products have been tested and found non-reactive or negative for HIV 1/2, HBV, and HCV using US FDA-approved tests. The material is manufactured from starting material collected in accordance with all government regulations and from US donors in FDA-licensed facilities. Donors have provided full informed consent and donor identity is confidential. No fetal samples are used in the manufacture of human-derived materials at STEMCELL.

Although STEMCELL has made all reasonable efforts to ensure the information supplied is correct, we make no warranties as to its accuracy or completeness. Furthermore, although STEMCELL believes the same is true for the information provided by our suppliers, we can make no guarantees or representations as to the accuracy or completeness of the information provided by them.

Regards,

Chris Figueiredo
Sr. Manager Quality Control
